

Money Canvas™

Building faithful stewardship habits in your congregation

Money Canvas™ one-on-one online coaching sessions can help individuals build healthier budgeting, saving and spending habits. No pressure. No cost. Just conversations that help people make the most of all God has given them.

Some examples of groups that may find Money Canvas coaching helpful, include:

Marriage ministry

Combining finances can be challenging and talking about money values as a couple can be difficult. Money Canvas makes it easy for couples to understand their combined finances and find ways to work together to join incomes and expenses.

Young families

Balancing expenses while saving for your children's future can feel impossible. Money Canvas can help parents with tips on juggling ongoing expenses so they can spend less and save more.

Widow/divorce groups

Sudden changes in finances can make for challenging times. Money Canvas can help individuals learn how to create their first budget and help keep their spending within their new budget.

Growing stewards

One of the greatest barriers to being generous is not having good spending and saving habits. Money Canvas™ builds those habits to help people put their treasure where their heart is.

Learn more at thrivent.com/moneycanvas.

Questions?

Reach out to us at boxmoneycanvas@thrivent.com.